TextReady® CREATOR

Creating a document in seconds.

We all need to create new documents and most of the time we start with an existing one. We modify it, copy-paste a lot and struggle when re-arranging the format. TextReady® CREATOR starts with a fresh document, gets all the information from your database and from a repository of text content, and creates a perfectly formatted document in seconds. Then you can still use your Microsoft® Word to fine tune the document.

No more errors!

Daily pressure leads into many mistakes. When editing an existing document we always miss an important detail. Stop those errors with TextReady® CREATOR.

No more copy-paste.

Remember the embarrassing mistake you made when you copy-pasted information into a document and left behind data that was intended to somebody else? Can you imagine the face of the person that received the document? ... Imagine no more! Buy TextReady® CREATOR and forget the nightmare, as it will produce your documents perfectly formatted with maximum accuracy.

No need for training.

Introducing a new software to an organization is always a disturbing process! But TextReady® CREATOR is a new experience. It does require careful planning and good content definition, but it does not require user training as it is very easy and intuitive to use.

You only need a browser!

Choose your favorite browser, Internet Explorer or Safari (more to come in the future). No need for any client installations. The interface is really simple to use.

If you need to prepare a quotation, a contract, a letter or a report, TextReady® CREATOR is the best tool for you. It can create your final document in seconds! Perfectly formatted with your logo, styles and colors applied. No more copy paste! No more time wasted retouching a document. Spend your time with the real content and let TextReady® CREATOR work for you.

SIX EASY STEPS TO CREATE A DOCUMENT

1. ENTITY: Select one or more Entities (Contact and Company name, Address etc) from your current database.
2. FROM: Select the name or names that will sign the document from your users list with a single click.
3. PROJECT: Associate the document with one or more projects and use those references in your final document.
4. CONTENT: Select the content that will be included in your document from an easy to use tree model.
5. FILL: The document might require multiple variables. Fill them in a single page (this way you do not forget a single one).
6. BUILD: Finally create the document with a single click of a button and it will be ready in a second.

Business Solutions

TextReady® CREATOR can be used in many vertical applications.

If you have to produce a quotation, a contract, a letter or a report, TextReady® CREATOR is the right tool for you.

Need to produce a quotation?

Do it in seconds with TextReady® CREATOR. From a repository of standard information you can produce a quotation in seconds with a few mouse clicks.

Insurance documents

We know that there are so many, some are already standard but many others need to be produced for each situation. TextReady® CREATOR is the productivity tool that you require.

We are not replacing the documents that are automatically produced from current business applications, like invoices or payment requests. We are in fact providing a productivity tool to quickly create personalized documents like contracts for instance.

Law Firms: a perfect contract.

Each contract is different from the other, but they share a lot of information in common. What if you could select that information from a tree and get your first draft in seconds? Try TextReady® CREATOR once, and your firm will never stop using it.

Marketing - a consistent image.

The tools that we have today to create a document are so flexible that everybody redefines his Company image everyday. In fact, if we take a closer look at the documents being produced by a Company or an Organization, we easily find different styles and fonts. In many occasions colors and logos do not follow company policies.

Explaining to people where the proper templates are or warning them that only the latest contents should be used, is not really enough. TextReady® CREATOR provides a centralized management system for your contents, making them available to the user in a very easy way.

Copy-paste was a great invention and still is. But we all remember the day we left in a new document something from the previous one, which was not supposed to be there. This simple mistake can be responsible for losing a deal or even a customer. TextReady® CREATOR produces a new document from a repository of text with variables that are filled automatically prior to the document production.

Service Companies

Service companies are always producing project documents and quotations. Each one is unique, but all of them share a lot of common information.

Even within a small group of people we are constantly re-writing contents, as we have limited means to communicate to each other what is available to "copy-paste". We use folders, intranets and sometimes very imaginative methods but none is as easy as a text repository like TextReady® CREATOR, always with the latest version available.

Return on Investment

Minutes saved per day

Measure the number of minutes each member of your team can save per day by using TextReady® CREATOR. You will then be surprised on the number of working days this represents in one year.

Image

Can you define a value for making sure that you will always present a consistent image, and that all your documents will display the same graphic and content quality regardless of the department that is issuing them.

Pay only once

Stop paying twice to write the same content. Can you evaluate that cost? If you compare these costs against the investment in TextReady® CREATOR you probably find that your ROI will be between six to eighteen months!
